

To pull someone's leg

To pull someone's leg: To be playful and just joking around.

Examples:

- (1) After a long week of work the man was looking forward to the weekend. When his boss told him he would be working on Saturday. But of course he was only pulling his leg, instead he wished him a nice weekend.
- (2) The party was on Saturday night, but his friends were pulling his leg, when they told him that the party was on Friday night.